Our County Towns.

While the Republicans of the different Wards in our city are actively at work marshalling their forces and consolidating their strength, their brethren in the country towns are emulating this good example and making ready to give a good account of themselves on the first Tuesday of November. The meetings appointed by the Central Committee in the several townships have been well attended, and our Republican speakers have been on hand to address them. Messrs. H. E. PAINE, J. B. D. COGSWELL, and other candidates on the Republican County Ticket, as well as numerous volunteers from the Republican ranks, have been doing a good work. Our friends thro'out the State may rest assured that all is well in Milwaukee. The back bone of Sham Democracy here is broken. Instead of the 4,400 majority which they gave Mr. BUCHANAN in 1856, they will be lucky if they get half that number for Mr DOUGLAS. Indeed, some of their shrewdest leaders would gladly compromise at a much smaller figure.

The Next Congress.

The Cincinnati Commercial replies to the remarks now so frequently met with in the Douglas papers, to the effect that LINCOLN will not have a Republican Congress to sustain him, if elected President, by asking in what branch of the next Congress will DOUGLAS have one-fifth of the votes? Why should you try to elect DOUGLAS, when he would be in a hopeless minority in both branches of Congress? If LINCOLN's party friends will not have a majority in the next House, it is pretty certain that there will not be a party majority in it. BELL won't have a majority. DOUGLAS will not have it.—Both together will fall far behind the Republicans, who will be the strong party in the House, and if Mr. LINCOLN administers the government wisely, there will be DOUGLASITES and BELL men enough to help out the Republicans in every policy obviously fair. In this way the "checks and balances" will work happily, according to the spirit and intent of the Constitution.

The Accident on the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway—Further Particulars.

The Detroit papers of Saturday morning bring us some additional details of the fearful accident on the Detroit and Milwaukee railway, which was briefly described in yesterday's Sentinel. The victims of the accident were DEXTER M. C. NICHOLS, Express Messenger; GEORGE M. SINES, Mail Agent; and ALEXANDER WILKIE, fireman; all three residents of Detroit, and the two former married men, who leave families. The accident occurred in this wise. We copy from the Detroit Daily Advertiser:

The passenger train left here twenty minutes behind time yesterday morning, and at Royal Oak, the conductor, J. J. Briscoe, received orders by telegraph to wait the Eastward going freight train at Birmingham. At the latter place, he found the Fentonville train, and conversed with the conductor, Mr. Bunker. Here originated the cause of the disaster. Mr. Briscoe made the singular and unaccountable mistake of supposing the Fentonville to be the freight train. Mr. Bunker had lately been conductor of the freight, and Mr. Briscoe made no inquiry, and without a thought, acted on the supposition that as he, Bunker, was there, his usual train was also, and started his train. When on the curve, and scarce two cars' length distant, as one engineer says, the engineers of the respective trains first saw each other. They whistled down the brakes, and jumped. Mr. Spencer, of the freight, escaped with a broken arm. His fireman, Mr. Wilkie, who was stoking at the time, did not jump, probably not having time, and was found dead in the ruins, and as near as possible to the place at which he must have been standing at the moment of the collision. Mr. Bell, of the passenger train, and his fireman, both landed unharmed.

The forward baggage car was divided into three compartments, in the forward one of which was Mr Nichols, express messenger, in the middle, Mr. Sines, the mail agent, and in the rear, Mr. William Briscoe, baggage agent. This car was wrecked, and two of its inmates killed; Mr. Briscoe escaped unhurt, save with a few bruises on his arm and one knee.

Mr. Sines was found dead, after considerable labor, buried in the bank and amid the ruins of the freight cars. His ribs had been forced up as if by strong lateral pressure. There can be no doubt but that he jumped, though either too late or in the wrong place.

Mr. Nichols was found under the safe, the upper part of his head crushed in. He was heard by Mr. Briscoe to groan, for some minutes after the collision, but was dead when extricated, which, we understand, was a half or three-quarters of an hour afterwards.

Both trains were running at great speed, both being behind time. The passenger train, we are informed was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. The freight train consisted of twelve cars, laden wholly or chiefly with beef in barrels, and the passenger train of two baggage and three passenger cars. The singular escape of the latter is accounted for by the fact that the forward one broke loose, and it being a down grade towards Birmingham, they ran back. No one in them was injured to any extent worty of mention.

The terrific force with which the trains came together may be imagined by the position of the wreck, after the collision. The place of the accident was a curve cut around the foot of a slight elevation. Upon the Northerly side was a sandy bank eight or ten feet high, and upon the opposite level ground, but slightly elevated above the track, and this, too, sandy. The locomotive, Oakland, of the passenger train, lay directly at right angles with the track, the rear driving wheels just inside the outer rail, its head broken and buried in the dirt, and its tender capsized and thrown on top of it. The locomotive Boston, of the freight train, was similarly wrecked, and its tender occupied the same relative position, but it lay at an oblique angle with the track, and with its head near the Oakland. They had struck and both turned off to the Southward, while the baggage and freight cars had turned off in the opposite direction up the bank.

The rear baggage car had been forced one-third of its length over the forward one, and the latter presented the appearance of having been thrust back and within the other, like the smaller cylinder of a telescope within the larger. Both lay upon their sides, and extending from the track to the top of the bank. The body of the rear car is pretty sound.

The freight cars were jammed into kindling wood, except the sixth and seventh, which were box cars. Both of these lay in portions, nearly like those of the baggage cars, but their near ends are not forced in, though they were tight against each other. We saw upon the ground the bottoms of two cars that had been hauled out of the way, and which we presume were platform cars.

On the track, and at the end of the locomotives, and filling up all the space between the partially sound cars named above, and the lowest ground, and on the track, lay an almost inseparable mass of trucks, wheels, broken barrels, pieces of beef, fish, oysters, bits of timber, and board. The track, of course, was torn up immediately under the wrecks.

The mails were recovered from the wreck in good condition and forwarded by the next train. Some of the express matter and passengers' luggage was pretty much used up. A good deal of freight was injured; but the main loss is in the rolling stock and fails on the Company. The Advertiser says:

The passenger conductor, Mr. J. J. Briscoe, one of the oldest and most experienced on the road, takes upon himself the entire blame of the fatal accident, and his grief at the sad result nearly crazed him.

Very soon after the accident happened Superintendent Mura arrived on the ground from Detroit with a large force of men, who immediately went to work to remove the wreck and clear away the track. This was accomplished on Saturday and the trains are again running without interruption. It will be seen that the accident was caused by a most unaccountable and unhappy mistake of the conductor of the passenger train.

NEW YORK SURRENDERED.

No Money to be had for the Fusion Ticket—Devil take the Hindmost.

[From the New York Herald, 16th.]

From the bad news we have received from Albany, and from other suspicious omens, we suspect that this State is lost to the conservative interest, and may be booked as safe for Lincoln and the Republican party.—The Regency are trying hard to get money from the merchants of this city, for the ostensible purpose of using it in the good cause in the interior of the State.

But the burnt child dreads the fire. The fools who gave their spare dollars for the Pennsylvania election, now repent of their folly, and say they will not be so easily caught a second time. They were cheated by the little Forneys of Philadelphia, the small fry imitators of the big Forney, and, the election was allowed to go by default, while the rogues pocketed the gold of N. York. It is too soon to deceive our merchants again, and they will button up their breeches pockets whenever any of the Regency approach them.

The confidence men are of the same small calibre as the Pennsylvania mendicants, and if they once received the alms they are begging, they would laugh at the donors for their stupidity, and distribute it among their own gang, if there is so much honor among these political thieves as would influence them to make a fair division of the money obtained under false pretences. They have no notion whatever of winning the election, and if they say anything to the contrary now, it is only for the double purpose of obtaining money and lulling the conservative voters into a deep sleep of fatal security. The moment they get their fingers upon the contributions of New York city, they will show their cards and play into the hands of Lincoln and the Republican party.

The Bunker Hill Veteran at the Old Battle-Ground.

From the Boston Atlas, Oct. 18th:

The old veteran of the Revolution, Mr. Ralph Farnham, visited Charleston yesterday afternoon, and went to Bunker Hill, the scene of his early patriotism. The occasion was one of the liveliest interest. The City Guard of Charlestown, Captain Boyd, turned out some seventy-five rank and file, with the Brigade band, and came over to the Revere to receive Mr. Farnham. At shortly after two o'clock, a barouche, containing Mr. Farnham, Mayor Dana, of Charlestown, Mayor Lincoln and George W. Warren, left Bowdoin Square, under the escort of the military, and proceeded down State and Union streets to the city of Revolutionary fame. After moving through several streets the procession arrived at Monument Square. Just before the halt was effected in order to ascend into the Square, and while in front of the residence of Hon. Richard Frothingham, Jr., a little daughter of that gentleman stepped forward and presented Mr. Farnham with a beautiful bouquet, which he received, expressing his thanks. The Square was crowded with upwards of five thousand persons, when the old gentleman ascended a stand erected adjoining the monument. Mayor Dana welcomed the hero in a brief address, in the course of which he remarked:

"We and our children have desired to see you. You stand before us as a remarkable man. We see one who knew and served under Washington—one who saw him arrive at his headquarters at Cambridge on July 2, 1775, and on the next day, under the noble elm which bears his name, unsheath his sword and take command of the American army—one who saw the American flag unfurled to the breeze; we see one who was familiar with the face of Putnam, of Warren, of Stark, of Prescott, and of their noble associates; we see one who was in the Revolutionary engagements of Rhode Island and New York, and present at that remarkable epoch in the war, the surrender of Burgoyne; we see one who by energy and industry subdued the forests, and surrounded his peaceful home with the products of his well cultivated fields; we see one who, with temperate and industrious habits, added to a vigorous constitution, has, by the blessing of a kind Providence, survived a century, and is the connecting link of many generations."

The old gentleman was soon conducted to the carriage again, and afterwards visited the Navy Yard, where he was welcomed by Commodore Hudson. He returned to the Revere House about five o'clock.

Almost a Railroad Crash—Queen Victoria in Danger.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.

BONN, Sept. 30, 1860.

We have had almost an accident on the railroad between Rolandseck and Andernach, the story of which came so directly to me that I most believe it, although no hint of it comes into the papers.

On the 24th inst., an extra train left Cologne for Coblentz, and the down train was telegraphed to wait at a station this side of Andernach until it had passed, there being but one track. By whose fault is not known, but the conductor of the down train was not informed of the message, and at a curve in the road somewhere near Brohl, the watchman suddenly saw the extra train rushing in one direction, the regular one in the opposite, directly against each other. The red flag of danger was seen by both engineers, waving the extra train to stop, the other to return to the station. The extra train was moving at lightning speed, and could not at once be brought to; the engineer of the other undertook to reverse his engine, and the machinery refused to work! "We must jump for our lives," he said to his companion, but before doing so he determined to try once more, fortunately this time with success, and, when the extra train came thundering up, the other had begun to gather way, and the crash was just barely escaped.

A few seconds more, and the accident would have had a place in history through all time; for upon the extra train were the Queen of England; her husband, Prince Albert; her daughter Alice; Lord John Russell, and the entire royal party now visiting Germany!

Nana Sahib Turned Up Again.

From the Bengal Harkaru.

GORRUCKPORE, Thursday, Aug. 16.

All doubt about the NANA is cleared up; he is still alive, though I fear out of our reach. A man who was taken away from this district, and has been for some time a prisoner in the rebel camp, has returned. He is very ill, but every care is taken of him, so that there is hope of his recovery. Government has ordered the man's depositions to be taken and forwarded to the proper quarters. Report gives this as his tale: "The NANA and his friends, before leaving Nepaul, each cut off his little finger and performed all the ceremonies of a funeral, as of leaving their whole bodies in holy India.—This being done, they entered upon their march to the North, and had escaped through a pass to the other side of the snowy range; and the camp consists of a force, so report goes, of 10,000 men and 13 guns. It appears they left Nepaul about the time when the last notices of the rebels appeared in your paper. At leaving they were joined by a brigade from Central India.

Politics in Virginia.

Special Despatch to the New York Times.

RICHMOND, Saturday, Oct. 18.

Elections were held in this State yesterday to fill vacancies in the State Senate.—In the Eighth District, Gen. Cox, Douglasite, is a head as far as heard from. Dickinson, Breckinridge, in Pryor's District, is elected. The Twentieth District is not heard from. For House Delegates, Crump is elected over Campbell from Amelia and Norway—a Whig gain. In Patrick and Fluvanna counties the Breckinridge Delegates are elected. Hon. Henry W. Hillard, of Alabama, is now addressing a large crowd of the great defeated on the subject of Union or Disunion. EVIN R. JONES, Sec'y.

Wisconsin and Free Democrat please copy.

OLD SETTLERS' "PIONEER CLUB."—We again request all "Old Settlers" who are disposed to join the "Pioneer Club," at the Republican demonstration to-morrow night, to leave their names at UNCLE BEN'S, East Water street, some time during the day, that the necessary number of torches may be provided for them. Some of the oldest and most substantial citizens will turn out in the ranks of the "Pioneer Club" to-morrow night. We hope to see the ranks full.

THERE WILL be a meeting of the First Ward Republican Club, at Bielfield's saloon, at 7 1-2 o'clock this evening, to make arrangements for the reception of CARL SCHURZ. JOHN B. D. COGSWELL, Pres't 1st Ward Rep. Club.

REPUBLICANISM IN FRANKLIN.—The Democrats of the north-westerly part of the town of Franklin, were much astounded at the audacious announcement that a Republican meeting would be held in the village of St. Martin, at BRAUN'S Tavern, on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 18th. They considered it almost impudent that Republicans should expect to make abolition speeches in their stronghold. They turned out, therefore, in very respectable numbers, as expecting to have a good lark at the expense of the Shanghai orators. To their surprise, they found a good number of Republicans from their own vicinity, recent converts from Democracy itself. To their great surprise, they actually remained themselves, patient, nay interested, while listening for three hours to discussions upon the Homestead bill, and the pernicious influence of slavery upon free white labor in the Territories.—The speakers were JOHN B. D. COGSWELL and HALBERT E. PAINE, who were able to retain all their auditors, and answer their interogatories satisfactorily. At the request of several persons, another meeting was appointed for the 23d of October, at Howard's Prairie, about two miles from St. Martins.

ST. MARTINS.

REPUBLICAN MEETING IN GRANVILLE.—Friday, Oct. 19th, a meeting was held at the house of ANTON FALBER, in the southerly part of the town of Granville. The German and American farmers from the vicinity of Granville and Wauwatosa were present—both Republican and Democratic. Speeches were made in English by HALBERT E. PAINE and JOHN B. D. COGSWELL, and in German by F. S. WINKLER. The audience remained as one man until the close of the meeting, and appeared much interested in the explanations of the Republican doctrines upon Free Labor, American Industry, Free Homesteads, and the Territories for white men. F.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—I have seen in different papers, accounts of the accident at Racine, October 16th, caused by the premature discharge of the gun, while firing for the Republican mass meeting, by which one poor fellow lost his life and two more were wounded. But nowhere have I seen recorded the very praiseworthy fact, that, immediately after the speaking was over in the afternoon, a collection of a little more than $300 was taken up from the crowd at the speaker's stand for the benefit of the unfortunate man, who has since died of his injuries; but to whose invalid widow it comes "a boon and a blessing." Let such noble deeds be recorded. Yours,

"GUN SQUAD."

A REPUBLICAN MEETING was held at Brooklin's School House in the town of Wauwatosa, on Tuesday evening of last week. The intelligent Republican farmers of the vicinity turned out in goodly numbers, and the active Wide Awakes of the village of Wauwatosa had come a distance of four miles to attend the meeting. Speeches were made by Halbert E. Paine and John B. D. Coggswell, whose topics were the Homestead Bill, Squatter Sovereignty, and the Restriction of Slavery. J. A. Phelps, the Republican candidate for Sheriff of Milwaukee county, being present, was called out, and made a few remarks, which were received with much favor. The meeting was a capital one, and we can assure our friends that the Republicans of Wauwatosa are all Wide Awake. B.

CHAS. H. WAGNER was seriously injured yesterday by being knocked down in Division street by a horse attached to a buggy. The drivers name was not reported.

Careless driving has become entirely too frequent, of late. We should like to see an example made of the next fast gentleman who has no regard for pedestrians.

FIRE.—A small building on River street, between Biddle and Martin, in the 7th Ward, occupied by Mr. HOLMAN, as a composition roofing factory, took fire, accidentally, about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was entirely consumed. The dwelling house adjoining was slightly injured by fire and water. The total loss will not exceed $200.

AT THEIR OLD GAME.—We are informed that a Republican gentleman of this city, on Saturday evening, went into a lager beer saloon in this city, and was badly whipped for daring to express his opinion in favor of Republicanism, by a party of the drunken Democracy. Verily the Democracy is returning to its old habits.

TELEGRAPH TO ST. PAUL.—The telegraph line between Milwaukee and St. Paul is now completed. The wire crosses the Mississippi at Winona, on three masts, 100 feet high. The press of St. Paul are rejoicing over their extension of telegraph facilities.

Republican County Nominations.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

HALE'S CORNERS, Greenfield, Oct. 22, 1860.

MESSRS. EDS:—On Saturday last the Assembly District Convention for Wauwatosa and Greenfield met, and with much unanimity, nominated Dr. CHESTER F. ELLSWORTH of this place, as Republican candidate for the Assembly. Such nominations are well worthy of the Republican cause. You as well as the public generally, will recognize Dr. ELLSWORTH as one of the first settlers of Wisconsin, having come to this County TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO, and made it his permanent abiding place ever since.—He has also been a subscriber to the SENTINEL from its commencement, which is sufficient evidence of his Republicanism. This is an incorrigibly Democratic District, but with such a candidate we have strong hope of success, especially as the opposition are very much dissatisfied with their nominee, a man named DAVIES, who is totally unfit for the place, and who will be deserted by his own German countrymen. We shall greet SCHURZ with a big crowd in this town next week, and feel that he cannot fall of doing much good to the cause among all classes here.

All the Republican boys from this region round about, are going to be with you on Wednesday night next, sure

REPUBLICAN.

THE VISITORS FROM PHILADELPHIA.—The Philadelphia excursionists, numbering about fifty, arrived in Milwaukee Saturday evening. They put up at the Newhall, and on Sunday were allowed to rest from the fatigues of their journey. Yesterday the Board of Trade extended a formal welcome, which welcome was cordially responded to by Mr. BUDD, of the delegation

During the day carriages were furnished the visitors by the Chamber of Commerce, and a greater part of the day was spent in examining all that is worthy of attention in our city or suburbs.

They all of them express themselves astonished at the growth and prosperity of the North west, and highly delighted with Milwaukee.

The visit will result in a better social and business understanding between the cities, and will be long remembered by both the guests and those visited, with pleasure.

MEETING IN GRANVILLE, FRIDAY, OCT. 12.—A meeting was held in the house of C. LUSCHLE, on section 36, township of Granville. A good many were present, and the audience were so much interested, that another meeting was called for last Saturday night at the same place, when the house was filled. JOHN J. BROWN was appointed Chairman, and Mr. SCHWARTZBURG, Secretary. Speeches upon Squatter Sovereignty, the Homestead Bill, Protection to Home Industry and the interests of Free Labor, were made by JOHN B. D. COGSWELL, H. E. PAINE and Mr. SCHWARTZBURG, in English and German. On Tuesday evening, Oct. 23, there will be a Republican meeting at the village of Brown Deer, in the northeastern part of Granville. The people of that township are warm for the Republican County Ticket. C. S.

NEW LAW FIRM.—We call attention to the card of Messrs. RANDALLS & GIFFORD, who have opened their law and collecting offices in Young's block. This firm consists of A. W. RANDALL, E. M. RANDALL and GEO. P. GIFFORD. GOV. RANDALL is an able lawyer, and was one of the best Judges in Wisconsin. His counsel and legal experience in an establishment of this character, is a reliable acquisition. E. M. RANDALL is the present District Attorney of Waukesha county, and will be the active attorney in the new firm. He will make Milwaukee his permanent residence. GEO. P. GIFFORD has resided in Milwaukee twelve years, and is personally acquainted with about every merchant in our State, besides nearly all the Western traders East. He has had five years active experience as collecting agent for Eastern houses, and is well qualified to attend to his department and keep a large law firm supplied with business. We regard it a sound concern in every respect, and bespeak for its patronage and predict for its success.

ROWDYISM IN THE THIRD WARD.—Yesterday afternoon as a teamster was passing through Huron street, in the Third Ward, with his team, a number of rowdies, conspicuous among whom were JIM GEARY and JOHN O'NEIL, and a fireman belonging to Engine Co. No. 6, attempted to get upon the wagon. The teamster, who was a quiet man, remonstrated, but without effect.—They insisted on stopping his horses, and when he drew his whip on them, they fell upon him and beat him unmercifully. It is now high time that our police should make an effort to do their duty, before the city is completely at the mercy of cut-throats and rowdies.

FRANK LESLIE'S MONTHLY.—The largest of all the monthlies, and with which is incorporated "The Gazette of Fashion," comes to hand for November. Its voluminous attraction is not dispelled by examination. Almost every page is loaded with wood cuts, and the amount of reading matter furnished in each number does away with all necessity for circulating libraries.

ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS.—The Republicans of Wauwatosa and Greenfield have nominated DR. C. F. ELLSWORTH for the Assembly.

The Democrats of the towns of Granville and Milwaukee, have nominated John Hanrahan.

ACCIDENT.—ALLEN GRORTY, while engaged in excavating a bank on the line of the La Crosse road, was seriously injured on Saturday morning, by the giving way of the land. He had an arm and one of his thighs broken. Mr. GRORTY resides in the Fourth Ward.

MUNICIPAL COURT, Oct. 22.—Andrew Healy and Morris O'Grady, drunk and disorderly. Penalty and costs $11,99 for the two. Paid.

James Grace, drunk and disorderly.—Penalty and cost $12,80, or twenty days in jail. Committed.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—Dear Sir:—Permit me to call the attention of the public to a trick that is being played upon them by the members of a religious society in this city.

A ticket was put into my hand the other day with following inscription upon it:—"Second Concert and Supper of the Welsh Presbyterian Church, of Milwaukee, at Albany Hall, &c." Knowing that there is no "Welsh Presbyterian Church" in Milwaukee, I should like to hear from any one of those concerned in the distribution of these fraudulent tickets, what reason they can assign, or what object they have in view in assuming a name which they know does not belong to them.

The church in whose interest the Concert is to be held is not "Presbyterian," but Calvinistic Methodist; and any one who will take the trouble to go to the Notary Public's office and examine the deed of their meeting house will find it so recorded. And, in addition to that, I find in the Cyfaill, a magazine, published under the auspices of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodists in this country, for this month, an account of a meeting held by this fictitious Presbyterian Church, only in September last, at their place of worship, corner of Michigan and Van Buren streets, designated as follows: "District Convention of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodists in Milwaukee." Have they united with the Presbyterians since the first of October, or have they merely borrowed the name of that respectable denomination till the concert is over?

The Bible says that "he that doeth righteousness is righteous, and commands to provide things honest in the sight of all men." And unless I am greatly mistaken, no money collected from the public through deception for religious purposes can be "an odor of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God."

CLOTHES, AND WHERE TO GET THEM.—It was with much trepidation that we accepted a standing invitation to look over the stock of DUTTON'S. So much for a name. It seemed doubtful that we should do justice to the prestige already existing. Modish subjects require the style a la mode, and who can transform the etherealismof fashion, or the exquisite beauties of stylishness in dress, into readable descriptions? Such a wealth of design and multitudes of patterns, with strange French names slipping out as the folds were turned.

Primo—Coatings, broadcloth, beaver, pilot cloth, from silky impalpable texture to heavy board-like solidity, with all the browns and purples of the French mills, which, of late, have become so fashionable Secundo—Vestings, for full an hour. Patterns of velvet and cashmere melting into one another, like the hues of a Kaleidoscope, and still no end to the variety. We thought we knew what DUTTON kept, but own up beat.

The splendid selections of goods for gentlemen's wear—mark this—are made up here secundum artem—that is, being translated, "according to Gunter." Such fits, never pinched up, but snug and handsome, with all that contour and curve which comes from the true artist.

The style of goods which of late has been introduced into the American market, and has become deservedly popular, has struck a clever blow at broadcloth. Black has been doomed for some time, and all the elegant patterns of serviceable fabrics which are taking its place, DUTTON keeps. Not to forget the elegant silk velvet and silk vestings; the large and superior assortment of fancy goods, shirts, &c., down to suspenders and patent collar boxes.

Our honest, unbought opinion is, that when we want clothes, as is clothes, we shall go to DUTTON. Amen.

PIONEERS' MEETING.—At a meeting of the Republican pioneers of Milwaukee at the store of B. THROOP, on Monday evening, October 22d, 1860, ELISHA STARR was appointed Chairman, and B. THROOP Secretary.

It was, on motion, voted to attend the demonstration on the 24th inst., in honor of CARL SCHURZ, as the Pioneers' Republican Club of Milwaukee, and to carry torches in the procession in the evening.

On motion, voted that A. J. LANGWORTHY be the Commander of the Pioneers' procession, with power to appoint assistants.

ALEXANDER MITCHELL, HARRISON LUDINGTON, and GEORGE D. DOUSMAN were appointed a committee to procure a suitable banner for the occasion.

On motion, the meeting adjourned to meet at Albany Hall at one-half past 6 o'clock P. M., on the 24th inst.

It was moved and carried that the above be published in the SENTINEL.

SEMI ANNUAL REVIEW OF THE MILWAUKEE FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The Fire Department paraded yesterday, the occasion being the semi-annual review by the Mayor and Common Council. The line was formed on Main street at one o'clock. At two the line of march was taken up. As several of the companies did not turn out, the display was not as fine as usual.

The trial of engines took place at the foot of Martin street at three o'clock. On account of the weather the test was only in regard to quantity. The result was as follows:

No. Two,	3 feet 5 1-8 inches
" Five,	3 feet 2 7-8 "
" Six,	3 feet 7 7-8 "
" Eight,	3 feet 7 3-8 "
" Seven,	2 feet 6 "

A TRUE PORTRAIT OF CARL SCHURZ.—Messrs. KURZ & SEIFERT, of this city, have just published a very spirited and correct lithograph portrait of CARL SCHURZ. Beneath the picture is his eloquent epitome of the Republican Platform: "To man, his birthright; to labor, freedom; to him that wants to labor, work and independence; to him that works, his dues."

Copies of this fine portrait may be obtained of the publishers at their rooms over NEIDECKAN'S Book Store, Kneeland's Block. Large size, 50 cents; small size, 25 cents.

DEPARTURE OF THE PHILADELPHIA EXCURSIONISTS.—Our Philadelphia visitors, after spending Sunday and yesterday in our city, left here at 3:15 yesterday afternoon, for Chicago and St. Louis. They expressed themselves greatly pleased with what they saw of Milwaukee; were delighted with their cozy quarters and abundant fare, at the Newhall House, and left behind them a most agreeable impression. We trust that this will be by no means the last interchange of visits between Philadelphia and Milwaukee.

DEMOCRACY.—JOSEPH SMITH and Mr. WINKLER we let out to the town of Lake, on Saturday, to address the Republicans.—During the evening, a party of Democrats conveyed a quantity of filth to the buggy of these gentlemen, and by industrious labor succeeded in rendering the vehicle unfit for use. What a nasty thing Democracy has become.

LADY ELGIN RELIEF FUND.—I hereby acknowledge the receipt of $70 by the hands of Dr C. KEAK and PETER LAVIES, Jr., of the town of Greenfield, in this county, being the proceeds of a festival held in "Buerger Verein Hall," in that town, on the 15th inst., for the benefit of the Lady Elgin sufferers.

Carl Schurz in New York.

We copy from the N. Y. Tribune of Thursday last, an account of two large Republican gatherings, American and German, in Williamsburg, which were addressed by our eloquent fellow citizen, CARL SCHURZ, with the happiest effect. Mr. SCHURZ is doing a great work in New York. Crowds flock to hear him, wherever he speaks, and large numbers, especially among the Germans, have been led by him to see the error of their ways, and are now battling zealously for Freedom and Right in the Republican ranks. Well may the friends of the Republican cause, in this city, prepare to receive with all the honors, on his return home to-morrow night, the able and zealous champion who has rendered them and the country such signal service.

Who Killed Cock Robin?

The DOUGLAS, BRECKINRIDGE and BELL papers cannot agree as to the causes of their defeat in Pennsylvania and Indiana. The Springfield Register (DOUGLAS) accuses the "Americans" in those States of voting with the Republicans, and the Louisville Journal says they "have been foully betrayed into the hands of the Republicans by the BRECKINRIDGE democracy. And to cap the climax, the Washington Constitution (BRECKINRIDGE organ) accuses the DOUGLAS men of Pennsylvania of voting with the Republicans!

Mr. DOUGLAS himself ascribes the defeat to the union of the BRECKINRIDGE men and the Republicans; while the BRECKINRIDGE leaders in this city maintain that the DOUGLAS men in Pennsylvania voted for the Republican ticket, on purpose to show how weak Mr. BUCHANAN is in his own State.

However the organs of the different factions may "explain" the matter, the great fact remains, that sham Democracy and its congenial ally, Know-Nothingism, were irretrievably defeated in the October elections, and find it utterly impossible to rally their broken and disorganized forces for the contest of November. They will be swept from the field by the irresistible charge of the victorious Republican phalanx.

The Disorganized Democracy.

The old Democratic Party in New York is utterly demoralized by the "bargain and sale" tactics pursued by its leaders. There are three or four candidates, each claiming to be the "regular" and orthodox, in every one of the city districts. The Express and Journal of Commerce, Know-Nothing and "Fusion" organs, are in despair at this state of things. The latter says:

> The old party machinery is all out of gear. Thousands of persons attend to each party meeting, publish allegiance to committees and conventions, and vote for the candidate that suits them best. And though a candidate goes into a convention, and thereby, to a certain extent, recognizes its regularity, he does not consider himself bound by its action, but the moment he is defeated he rushes out with his friends, organizes another convention on the sidewalk, if no other place is convenient, regards the unanimous nomination, and thenceforth sets himself up as the only genuine, original candidate.
> Or, if the ambitious individual is connected with any species of committee or club, no matter how insignificant, and has money enough to pay for whiskey and printing, he may, through the agency of the organization which he controls, have his own exclusive primary elections, and his subsequent nominating convention, with every semblance of regularity. The question of precedence among some of the candidates is involved in rather more historical doubts than the authorship of the Junius Letters, or the genuineness of some of Shakespeare's (so-called) plays.

This is just what might have been expected. The superior officers in the Democratic ranks having set the example of "selling out," it was natural that their subordinates should follow suit. The Democratic politics in New York city are now reduced to a mere question of dollars and cents. Principles are laughed to scorn. The longest purse controls the most votes. The richest candidate is the only regular one.

Found Out Their Mistake.

The straight Douglas electoral ticket in Pennsylvania has been withdrawn, and the original Reading ticket is the only one now in the field. This shows a very sensible state of affairs on the part of the Douglasites.—Madison Argus and Democrat, (Breckinridge.)

The DOUGLAS men cut rather a poor figure in Eastern politics, just now. They are last in the race in Delaware and Maryland. They have abandoned the field in Pennsylvania. In New York, they have "fused" with the Know-Nothings, and in Massachusetts they have adopted the K. N. nominations. To this condition has the once powerful and boastful Democracy of the North come at last. "But yesterday, they stood against the world—now none so poor to do them reverence."

Republican Nominations.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

LISBON, Oct. 18, 1860.

At a Republican Assembly District convention, consisting of the towns of Merton, Lisbon and Menomonee, held at the Union Church in Lisbon, Oct. 18th, Mr. JESSE B. NEHS, of Menomonee, was nominated for Assembly.

GEORGE W. SKINNER, Ch'n.
WM. SMALL, Sec'y.

ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS.—At the Convention at the Fairchilds school house, on Saturday last, the Republicans put in nomination Mr. Francis Smith, of the town of Sugar Creek. We have no hesitation in saying that no better nomination could have been made. Mr. Smith is an old resident of this county, a farmer, a man of sound judgment and discretion, of Roman firmness and integrity, and one whom no trickery can delude or no bribery seduce. We have heard but one expression with reference to this nomination, and that is one of gratification. He will be elected by a swinging majority that will astonish the natives, and when elected he will make the best kind of a member of the Legislature. See if he doesn't!—Whitewater Register.

Book Notice.

Miss GILBERT'S Career—by Dr. HOLLAND—For sale by TENNIS & Co.

In everything he does, Dr. HOLLAND is peculiary American; or, to make a little finer point, is essentially New Englandish. He neither draws upon Ancient Geography for the scenes his actors shall move in, nor imports anybody from over the sea to figure in his dramas. His "Bitter-Sweet" was a home product all through; like the ambitious member of the Solomon family, he named it after, his poem grows about anywhere, but especially in Yankee orchards and round New England dresides. The "Titcomb Letters" could not have been written in Europe, much less read there, with the thorough appreciation that attends their perusal here. They were precisely adapted to the American market; and American young men and young woman grow nowhere but in America. Those letters were to them, and they paid the postage and read the missives and thought well of Dr. HOLLAND and better of themselves.

And now comes "Miss Gilbert's Career," —American out and out, as it should be.—Even the word career, has a meaning not known in soberer countries; it is almost a cant term with us, and signifies not what one runs but what one has. It is never a great way off from that other word we have all grown sick of, "mission," which also hunts in couples with the word "woman," for in anybody's thinking, "woman's mission" are the verbal Chang and Eng of reformatory literature.

Dr. HOLLAND set three things before himself when he planned and penned this volume: first the cruelty of the forcing system in the education of little children, and the doctrine that the truest alma mater the little candidates for Heaven's kingdom can have, is mother Earth; that it does them good to play in the dirt and be children as long as they can. Second, that mere college education is not a liberal education; and third, that a woman's career is not to have a hungry ear for the praise of the world, and a hungry heart for the applause of strangers, but to say to some worthy fellow, where thou goest I will go,' and all the rest of it, as see Ruth; to learn the humility that renders her altogether lovely, and the charity that suffers and conquers in the same breath.

And Dr. HOLLAND has done his work admirably. His characters are brought out not by dull inventories of qualities, but by most felicitous and masterly touches. He has entered into the life he portrays; he is giving us nothing at second-hand. You know everybody in the village of Crampton worth knowing, when you are through with the book; it is better than a long residence therein, to read it; you feel that you have enlarged the circle of acquaintance; that you know more and think more of the world; that this is the best planet within easy reach to work up in, and the worst place in the Universe to be under foot in; that a good stout purpose in the heart, and a willing pair of hands 'convenient' and a stock of the right sort of pride always at a command, are better than the things the people call 'advantages,' and set a high price upon.—Like her who asked as a reward, what the soldiers bore upon their left arms, and was crushed beneath the precious weight of the 'advantages' that have been heaped upon him; precious, indeed, for they cost a life.

But 'Miss Gilbert's Career' is not a sermon; it is a lively story, rich in incident, sparkling with fun, and yet not without befitting passages, 'if you have tears to shed.' It is a work, we venture to say, of a man who observes more than he feels; who is not 'carried away' on the wave of emotion, but after it recedes, stands quietly on the shore to see what treasure it has washed up or what trace it has left. It is a work with a great deal more life in it than is expended in the story. It might bud and blossom, and put out new branches almost anywhere along; and under the eye of the thoughtful reader it will do both.

The tendencies of the book are, in the main, good: it fosters no idle fancies; it 'cheers, but not inebriates;' it is earnest and hopeful. In a word it sets forth life as a rich kernel with a rough covering; no rose-water, no knights errant, no high-born dames, no opium eater's dream; it is the poet's stanza 'done' into New England village life,

> 'Not enjoyment, and not sorrow,
> Is our destined end or way,
> But to act, that each to-morrow
> Find us farther than to-day.'

Dr. Holland did a wise thing when he said 'imprimatur;' everything goes in pairs, and the other wise thing of this couple is, that being printed it shall be read.

THE WIDE AWAKES AT WASHINGTON.—"Occasional" writers to the Philadelphia Press thus:

The last Washington sensation was the parade of the Republican Wide Awakes to rejoice over the triumphs of their party in Pennsylvania. Their numbers took the town by surprise, and their resolute bearing and compact columns as well as the respectability of those who participated with them in the procession, with the knowledge that they were armed to protect themselves, probably prevented a bloody tumult. The clerks from the extreme South who witnessed the array, and followed it through its march, did not hesitate frequently to avow a desire to attack it, and more than one loudly asserted that it was an outrage to allow a Republican parade upon slave territory; (!) but when they were quietly informed that the Wide Awakes not only had latterns in their hands, but revolvers in their pockets, and while deter mined not to provoke an attack, were ready to resist at all hazards and to the last extremity, no attempt was made to interfere with them. The speech of Mr. Kilgore, of Indiana, who spoke for the Republican National Committee, was bold, frank, and conservative, and productive of the happiest results. When one of the stipendiaries of the Administration called out to him from the vast crowd that he (Mr. K.) and his party intended to steal their negroes he replied aptly and at once, that that was another of the misrepresentations under which the Republican party had been compelled to rest. "We do not want your negroes," said he. "I am from Indiana, which has passed a law prohibiting negroes from hereafter entering her limits. I am equally opposed to the introduction of free negroes or slaves. "Our party is the party of white men" This retort excited great enthusiasm, and many who came to scout went away converted. The fact is, the Republicans have had many accessions since the result of the Pennsylvania Gubernatorial election. I am told that one hundred and seventy-five joined the club the night after the result. Everybody seems to be preparing for the advent of Lincoln's administration. The tradesmen, so far from being despondent, are rejoiced. They want to see new faces.

PUTTING THEM TO THE TEST.—The Bell organ in Philadelphia catches at the report that Messrs. Douglas and Breckinridge, in view of the disastrous results of the late elections, are about to withdraw from the Presidential arena and advise their respective supporters to vote for Bell and Everett.—This it thinks exceedingly probable and natural, and adds:

"Messrs. Breckinridge and Douglas have the Union in their own hands. If true patriots, they will retire from a contest in which their presence only aids and encourages their enemies. They can do so, too, with grace and propriety, for if they act in concert, the friends of neither can complain.—If they are sincere in their devotion to the principles which they have avowed, if they prize the noblest fame that patriotism can win, and if they really love their country, they will confirm a rumor which men cannot help believing, because it is so plausible, and which, if true, will be hailed with universal joy."

By all means! let Messrs. Douglas and Breckinridge show their patriotism by declining, and let Mr. Bell do likewise. What is the use of going through the sweat and fret of a contested Presidential election, when everybody knows beforehand what will be the result? Capt Scott's coon showed his good sense by coming down when he saw that staying up would only cost the captain a charge of powder and shot and perhaps induce some damage to the coonskin. Let Bell, Douglas and Breckinridge all decline, leaving the field to Fusion and Dry Goods, who will probably run Mr. Josh Henry for President and his clever Porter for Vice.—Then you will see a race "as is a race."—Clear the track!—N. Y. Tribune.

Grand Republican Rallies in Williamsburgh.

The Republicans of Brooklyn, Eastern District, held a grand mass meeting at the Odeon last evening. At an early hour the large hall was thronged, and soon the coming crowds filled the aisles and nearly all the standing room on the floor. Quite a number of ladies occupied the reserved seats in front, encouraging by their presence the champions of Freedom.

Mr. Thomas W. Field called the meeting to order, and after a few brief remarks introduced the "Prairie Songsters," who sang in their usual good style the Rallying Shout of Freedom, which called forth an answering shout of applause from the audience. The chairman then introduced the Hon. James A. Briggs, who proceeded to dissect the Squatter Sovereign Doctrine of Mr. Douglas. While he was speaking, Mr. Schurz made his appearance on the platform, and was received with almost deafening applause, culminating in three rousing cheers, which were renewed as he took his place at the desk. When the applause had somewhat subsided, Mr. Schurz spoke as follows:

FELLOW-CITIZENS:—I am very sorry to be compelled to say that I shall be able to entertain you but a very short time. I have had to speak every day since the nomination of that great and good man Abraham Lincoln [cheers,] and I shall have to speak every day till the time when he is certain to be elected. [Applause.] There is a German meeting waiting for me, and in addressing them I shall do the useful part of the business, and I think you can well afford to leave the ornamental portion of the work to somebody else. I have been travelling extensively in the United States, and I can tell you all that the battle stands well at all points The Democrats don't seem to be so unterrified as they used to be. [Laughter] They are not quite as national, but it must be conceded that they are eminently harmonious. [Laughter and cheers] They have two candidates in the field and each of them is so thoroughly convinced of the fitness of the other for the Presidency, that each of them takes the utmost pains to defeat the other. [Great Laughter] It seems to have been the rule in the history of the Democratic party that each succeeding Administration has to make the preceding one respectable. [Cheers and laughter.] It cannot be denied that the Administration of John Tyler made that of Van Buren respectable; Pierce made Polk's quite respectable; and you, and all of us will agree that the eminent old public functionary, the favorite son of Pennsylvania, has succeeded in making that of Pierce most respectable. [Laughter.] And it must be confessed that the Democratic party, with their accustomed sagacity, has been exceedingly fortunate in their selection of a candidate, for if anybody can succeed in the formidable task of making the last Administration respectable it is the favorite son of Illinois, Mr. Douglas — [Great cheering and laughter.]

But it seems that Mr. Buchanan has come to the conclusion that if he has got to go down, the whole glory of the Democratic party must go down with him; and there we sympathise with him most profoundly. [Laughter] I see but one danger to the Republican party, that is, our being so sure of a victory that we may fall in our efforts. But even against that danger a remedy has been invented, which is the Wide Awakes. [Cheers] I wish every true Republican would join that organization, not perhaps in reality, but certainly in spirit.—For if we are but true to that noble function, and are wide awake to the problem to be solved, wide awake to the necessity of placing a reformed Administration in office, wide awake to the necessity of seeing Abraham Lincoln inaugurated, [Cheers] and last, wide awake to the responsibilities that will devolve upon a victorious party when in power, then our victory will be what it ought to be, a victory of true principles of liberty and general justice. Then the Republican cause will prove what it ought to be, the cause of the American people; and being the cause of the American people, it will be what it ought to be, the cause of universal mankind.

The most enthusiastic applause followed this short address, which was kept up till Mr. Schurz left the hall to proceed to the German meeting.

After the conclusion of the speech at the Odeon, Mr. Schurz went immediately to the great Turn-Halle, in Meserole street, which was already crowded with German friends. A band of music had been entertaining them and Mr. Rohr, who presided, had made a short speech.

Here Carl Schurz made in German for two hours one of those clear, logical statements of the law and facts of party politics, interspersed with brilliant flashes of wit and genial sallies of humor, which have made his name respected and beloved wherever Republicanism is known. He was received with intense enthusiasm, and listened to for the most part in breathless silence. Only when some stroke of genius placed the folly of Democracy in a more ludicrous light than it was ever placed in before, or when he appealed to that German love of freedom which is the groundwork of British and American liberty, and which is still strong in the hearts of the German people everywhere, did they make the rafters ring with their shouts of applause.

Mr. Schurz developed the radical difference between the Democratic and the Republican policy, showing that the Democratic party was doing everything to maintain the the ascendancy of the Slave States For this they abolished the ordinance of 1787; for this, they repealed the Missouri Compromise; for this, they made the desperate efforts to fix Slavery upon Kansas; for this, the sought, by the Dred Scott decision, to place Slavery in the Territories above the power of Congress; for this, they opposed the Homestead Bill, which would secure the Territories to Freedom; for this, they opposed the Tariff which would secure a rapid development of American industry and skilled labor, and so build up the North, where alone skilled labor could be employed; for this, every effort was made by the Federal Government to cripple the Free States in order that they might not outstrip the Slaves States in population and in power. This he explained so clearly and completely that the hours sped like minutes, and at the late conclusion there were unanimous calls for him to "go on." He showed that the Homestead bill was as important to the prosperity of the mechanic, or laborer, or merchant in the East as to the small farmers at the West, for whatever increased the wealth of the West, increased in like degree the trade and prosperity of New York.

He threw back upon the Democratic party the charge of being a negro party, contrasting the last Conventions of the two parties, the Republicans devoting small time to Slavery, while the Democratic Conventions, both at Charleston and Baltimore, did nothing else but talk about the negro. Especially happy was he in his treatment of "Know-Nothingisms," and this portion of his speech seemed to elicit especial interest.—Know Nothingism had grown up naturally from the blind and implicit following by the great mass of foreigners of the name of Democracy without regard to principle. The only way to extinguish Know-Nothingism was to cut off its root, by showing that they understood as clearly the politics of the country, and judged as justly and as reasonably as their native-born fellow citizens; then it would die of itself. It had already retired to the Democratic party, which was the first stage of death. So long as they voted the Democratic ticket unquestioningly, the Democrats said nothing about their being foreigners; but down in Pennsylvania he had found that as soon as he manifested an intention of thinking and speaking for himself, the Democratic press was first to call him a "shameless foreigner!" Here in New York Know-Nothingism had found its true associates, and had gone in to form the pro-slavery party of the State.

In closing, he reminded his hearers of their struggles and sacrifices for Freedom in 1849. Should they who then perilled Leib und Leben, und Gut und Blut, not now send back to their countrymen who had not yet the power to wrest freemen from tyranny the assurance that the German people where they found freedom, knew how to understand it and preserve it.

The tremendous outburst of applause which followed upon this appeal showed how brightly the fires of freedom still burn in the hearts of the exiles from their Fatherland, and how naturally they transfer their battle for Freedom from the Old World to the New.

Although it was very late when Mr. Schurz concluded his speech, yet a few words were added by Mr. Wagner before the vast assemblage separated.

This meeting will add much to the growth of Republicanism among the Germans of Williamsburgh.

CITY LAND OFFICE.
FOR SALE AT A GREAT BARGAIN. That well known and celebrated Stone Mill at Menomonie, which is built in the very best of manner, with all modern improvements, and four run of stone; will average one hundred barrels of flour a day—(the flour from this Mill is celebrated.) The Mill is not more than 6 or 7 years old. It is situated on a side bracket to the Mill & Miss R. R., on Black earth River, and has an abundance of water all the year round. Said Mill is forty-four by sixty-four feet, and four stories high. There is also another building for a Wool Factory, three stories high. The ground included with the buildings is 200 by 300 feet. The location of the great Mill is very desirable; the country around it is densely populated, and it has a new 3 story hotel immediately which can be occupied. It is said business is very good. The Mill and grounds and hotel are good thirty ton thousand dollars cash to build it. It will be sold at a great sacrifice; but ten thousand dollars cash will be required down, the balance, whatever may be agreed upon, may be paid in Milwaukee City property, good Western Lands, or any Eastern property, or good bonds and mortgages on Eastern or Western property. SPECIAL NOTICE.
THERE IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY for a good BLACKSMITH and a good SHOEMAKER to establish themselves in a lucrative business, in the town of Horicon, in Monroe County, Wisconsin. It is located on the line of the Lacrosse & Milwaukee Railroad, in the heart of the famous La Crosse Valley, one of the pleasantest and healthiest parts of the State. Being a new place, the owner of the lands in the vicinity of the depot proposes to furnish building lots for shops and dwellings, to a limited number, FREE, and to enable some industrious, but poor mechanics, an excellent chance to better their immediate prospects. The place is flourishing, and has, at present, some two or three hundred farmers within five miles; and two good water-powers within half a mile of the depot; also a post-office and store. Large quantities of wheat are shipped daily from this Station.
Any communication as to the undersigned will be promptly attended to. C. M. HERSEY,

INFLAMMATIONS.

DR. BINGHAM, A CELEBRATED PHYSICIAN of Salem, N. Y., says—"I have treated cases of Inflammation of the Brain, Inflammation of the Lungs, Inflammation of the Bowels and Kidneys, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Child Bed Fever, with Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment with perfect success, even when all internal remedies have failed; also cases of Croup, Scarlet Fever, Canker and Ulcerated Throat and Lungs with like success. In the Epidemic known as the Putrid Erysipelas by which so many valuable lives were lost I tested it frequently and it never failed of effecting a speedy and certain cure. In cases of Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frozen limbs, Chilblains, &c., it cures like a charm. No Physician or family will be without this medicine after becoming acquainted with its power to cure."

Sore Lips, Chapped Hands and Chilblains, are completely cured by two or three applications of the Magnetic Ointment.

Dealers in Boots and Shoes,

THE CELEBRATED COPPER TOE!

WADSWORTH & WELLS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN
Boots and Shoes,
60--LAKE STREET, CHICAGO--60.

WE OWN THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT for the sale of MITCHELL'S PATENT METALLIC TIPPED BOOTS AND SHOES, for and within the States of Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, and hereby give notice that all parties dealing in these goods within the above States, without having first arranged with us and by our consent, and who will be direct infringers upon our EXCLUSIVE rights, and that as soon as we are advised of any infringement, shall demand proper and immediate redress.

We have made extensive arrangements with the most celebrated manufacturers, whereby we can supply the increasing demand with the best qualities of these Tipped Boots and Shoes from our store in Chicago, each pair of which will be stamped and labeled with our name.

We shall recognize no Tipped goods within either the above States, but such are thus stamped and supplied by us.

We will warrant in all instances one pair of child's copper-tipped shoes to outwear two and oftentimes three or four pairs of equal quality without tips, as can be shown by very many testimonials, while the extra is but a trifle more, making an actual average saving to the consumer of near two hundred per cent.

Merchants and dealers in Boots and Shoes within the above States, can also find these Metallic Tipped Boots and Shoes, supplied and properly stamped by Wadsworth & Wells, for sale by ATKINSON, STILL & WHITE, and BRADLEY & METCALF, Milwaukee.

THE FOUR SEASONS.

Overhung with a laburnum's drooping sprays,
Singing her little songs, while softly round
Along the grass the chequer'd sunshine plays.

All beauty that is throned in womanhood,
Pacing a summer garden's fountain'd walks,
That stoops to smooth a glossy spaniel down,
To hide her blushing cheek from one who talks.

A happy mother with her fair-faced girls,
In whose sweet spring her youth again she sees,
With shout, and dance, and laugh, and bound, and song,
Stripping the autumn's orchard-laden trees.

An aged woman, sitting in a wintry room,
Frost on the pane, without the whistling snow,
Reading old letters of her fair youth,
Of sorrows past, and joys of long ago.

THE LILY OF THE VALLEY.

"What an angel!"

"Say rather a lily of the valley!"

The speakers were two young sportsmen in the highlands of Scotland, who, wearied by a long day's shooting, were approaching a hill-side spring, famous in that wild district for the coldness and purity of its waters. They had just reached the brow of the elevation overlooking the rural fountain, when the sight of a young girl in the first blush of womanly beauty, sitting by the spring, drew these ejaculations from them in succession. As they spoke they stopped, by a common impulse, to gaze on the fair vision a moment before it should be dissipated, which they knew it would, at their appearance.

The young girl was sitting on a low rock that rose by the side of the fountain, her dimpled elbow resting on the cliff, and her head leaning on her hand. The attitude was one of nature's own choosing, and graceful in the extreme, as all such careless postures are. The figure of the maiden was slight and sylph-like, yet exquisitely proportioned; nor could Canova have modeled a bust of more undulating outline, or a rounder and fairer arm. But it was the face that, after all, fixed the young men's attention. A shade of pensiveness hung over it for the time, as if a general melancholy took part in the reveries of the young girl; but it was plain to see, from the mirthful blue eye and the dimples of the chin, that the usual expression was one of happiness and glee. Her hair was golden in color, and flowed in natural ringlets down on her shoulders. The small, delicately chiseled mouth; the nose that rivaled in sirrightness that of a Grecian Venus; and the clear, brilliant complexion formed together a breathing picture of female loveliness such as no ideal painting could have rivaled.

"See, was I not right?" said the last of the two speakers in a whisper to his companion. "She has been gathering lillies; there are some still in her hand, and a bunch nestles in her bosom, but only to be outvied by the purity around it."

"Yes, Duncan, she is more than an angel—she is a peerless Scottish lass—a lily of the valley indeed. What a pity so much beauty was not noble born!"

"Tush!" replied his companion, impatiently. "Burns says—

'The rank is but the guinea stamp,
The man's the gowd for a' that;'

and, to my thinking, a lovely woman is a born countess, at least if she has graces of mind equal to those of person. But let us descend."

He had been leaning carelessly on his gun as he spoke, and now, preparatory to proceeding, threw it to his shoulder. Unfortunately the trigger had caught in a bramble, and the piece went off, the load lodging in his side. He staggered and fell.

"Good heavens!" cried his companion, springing to his side and lifting the wounded man up. "Are you killed? Do you hear me, Donald? Merciful Father!" he exclaimed, as he saw no sign of life in his friend, "what shall we do? He is dead, or dying, and no aid to be had for miles!"

The young girl we have described had been buried in a profound reverie, but at the report of the gun she started like a frightened bird, looking wildly around to see whence it proceeded. In a moment she caught sight of the wounded man lying on the heather above her, while his friend, kneeling on one knee, supported the head of the sufferer. Immediately that the sporting man saw the girl watching him, he shouted and waived for help.

When was woman's ear ever deaf to the call of suffering? The timid Scottish maiden, who but a moment before was on the point of flying, now turned and began to ascend the hill-side, fleet and graceful as a young doe.

"My poor friend," said the sportsman, politely doffing his hat as she approached, "has met with an unfortunate accident, and I do not know what to do, or where to bear him."

A deep blush dyed the girl's cheek as she encountered the gaze of a stranger, but it passed off immediately, and, with a presence of mind worthy of one older, she stooped down to see if the wounded man was dead.

The face she beheld was as handsome a manly countenance as the sun ever shone upon; and, perhaps, she thought so, for the blush again came to her cheek. The features were cast in a lofty, almost heroic mould, and were indicative of a character at once firm and elevated, a something above the mere fine gentlemen, which was evidently his social rank.

"He breathes still," she said, as she broke off a delicate leaf from one of her lillies and held it to his nostrils; and, looking at his companion, she continued, "do you think you could carry him to the spring?"

The sportsman answered by carefully lifting his friend up in his arms and bearing him down the hill-side, the young girl following.

"Place him there," she said, pointing to the slightly elevated bank, "and lean his head against the rock. Everything depends now on your getting a surgeon soon," she continued. "If you will follow that path to your right, around the turn of the hill, you will find our cabin. There is a pony there, which you can take, and ride to the little town of Abernothy, some five miles off, where, fortunately, a physician may be had. At the cabin you will find a shepherd or two—tell them to bring some bed-clothes and a settee, on which to carry your friend to the house. It is a humble place, but better than the hill-side. By the time you get back with the surgeon we shall have your friend safe in a comfortable bed, and, I hope, doing better."

She spoke with such a quick perception of what was to be done, and did it so composedly, that the sportsman, who had expected to see her frightened and embarrassed, was lost in admiration, and, submitting himself entirely to her guidance, hastened to execute her commission.

When he had vanished around the hill, the young girl took some water in her hands and began to bathe the face of the wounded man. But he still lay insensible. After having persisted in her task for some time, without any signs of life being perceptible, the tears began to fall thick and fast from her lovely eyes.

"Alas," she said, "he is dead! What if he has a mother, or one dearer still? And yet but half an hour ago he was in full strength of health and manhood. It cannot be. I have heard," she continued, eagerly, as if a sudden thought had struck her, and she began to tear open his vest to get at the wound, "that my grandsire died at Culloden from the blood coagulating in the wound, when, if a surgeon had been by, he might have been saved. What if this should be the case here?"

She had by this time bared sufficient of his person to get at the orifice of the wound. The dark gore had almost stiffened about it. She gazed at an instant, the tears falling fast in womanly sympathy, and then a sudden idea seemed to strike her. She stooped down, and, tenderly approaching the wound with her lips, began to suck the blood away. She had not been long engaged in her task of mercy when the wounded man stirred, and, opening his eyes, fixed them earnestly upon her.

She started from her kneeling posture, covered with beautiful confusion. For awhile the sense of maidenly shame even destroyed her joy at his recovery, and she could not meet his gaze.

"Where am I," for his memory was yet vague. "What spirit from heaven are you? Ah! I remember—my gun went off. But where is Harry?"

The young girl had now, in a measure, recovered from her embarrassment

"If you mean your friend," she said half timidly, and in a voice that sounded to the ears of the sufferer inexpressibly sweet, "he has gone for a physician. I have consented to watch by you till some shepherds come to carry you to our cabin. And here they come, heaven be blessed!" she exclaimed, clasping her hands equally glad to conclude this embarrassing tete-a-tete, and to see the wounded man placed in a situation of more comfort.

"Heaven bless you," said the sufferer with emphasis, giving her a look which brought the blushes again to her countenance. "You have saved my life."

In a few moments the wounded man was placed on a settee brought by the shepherds and the little cavalcade wended its way toward the cabin. The maiden walked last, and by her side stalked sadly the two dogs of the sufferer; and the dumb animals, with a sense almost human, as if appreciating her kindness to their master, looked up affectionately into her face every few steps.

The cabin was like those existing everywhere in the Highlands, a rude but cheerful habitation, but was both larger than usual and adorned with more taste inside. The wounded man, as he was borne into an inner chamber, of which the house had apparently at least two, noticed with some surprise, over the fire-place, an old fashioned target and broad claymore.

In about two hours the friend of the sufferer returned, bringing with him the physician. The surgeon was closeted with his patient for more than one hour, and when he came forth the young girl was still awake, sitting anxiously by the fire, in company with a middle-aged woman, the wife of one of the shepherds.

"Oh! Miss Helen," said the old physician, answering the enquiry of her eyes, "you have saved the life of as brave a lad as ever shot a muir cock or stalked a red deer. I know all about it ye see, lassie;" then, seeing that Helen was ready to cry with sheer vexation, he continued: "But it's in the blud, it's in the blud; ye came of a generous and gallant race," and he patted her head as a father would that of a favorite daughter, adding as if to himself, "it's a pity the Southron has the broad acres that were once her ancestor's; and that she, coming of a chieftain's line, should have nothing but a cabin and a few bits of hill-side for a flock or two of sheep."

Helen did not hear these remarks, for the old man spoke in a whisper, and she had risen, now that she knew the result, to retire, for she feared the other young sportsman would come out.

"Good-bye, doctor," she said, giving her hand with the dignity of a countess, softened by the kindliness of an affectionate girl.—"What you tell me will make me sleep better. I share good Mrs. Colin's bed to night, having given up my own room to the sick man; but, if you will rest here to-night, we will yield it to you and sit by the fire."

"Nae, nae," said the old man, kindly pushing her towards the door of the other sleeping room; "I stay here indeed, for I maun be warted; but I'm an old campaigner, and has slept mony a night under my cloak, with the bonny stars above me; and, to such as me, a settee and a chimney corner is nae great cross now and then."

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

INTERESTING NEWS FROM CALIFORNIA AND OREGON!

Republican and Anti-Lecompton U. S. Senators Elected!

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Oct. 22—9 P. M.

By the Pony Express, we have California dates to the 10th, and Oregon dates to the 8th inst.

News reached San Francisco by telegraph, that the Oregon Senatorial election took place in due form, and that J. W. Nesmith (Douglas Democrat) was elected for the long term, and Col. E. D. Baker (Republican) for the short term.

The news electrified the California Republicans, many of whom think the State can be carried for Lincoln, if Mr. Baker can be induced to take the stump in California.

The Breckinridge Democrats are endeavoring to damage the Douglasites alleging there is a coalition between them and the Republicans throughout the Pacific States, and that both parties will unite next Winter, to elect a fusion Senator from California.

The campaign is progressing vigorously, and the contest is so close between Douglas and Breckinridge in California that betting men continue to make even bets without hesitation, in large sums.

On the 8th inst. telegraphic communication between Los Angeles and San Francisco was inaugurated and was the occasion of a general jollification at Los Angeles.

The line is to continue eastward on the Butterfield route as far as the company are able. The salt Lake line is also progressing eastward from Carson valley; both lines anticipate connecting with the great continental line recently authorized by Congress.

A Wisconsin Man in Trouble.

BROWNSVILLE, N. T., Oct. 22—9 P. M.

A party of emigrants from Utah arrived in this place on Saturday night. One of them named Allen D. Warren was charged by another of the party, Geo. Miltimore, a youth, of robbing him on the plains, near the Big Blue, of $300 in gold—the result of 18 months labor in Utah.

A committee of citizens were appointed who investigated the matter and searched the accused, upon whom the money was found. The aggravated circumstances attending the theft caused much excitement—The prisoner is still in custody of the sheriff. Warren was on his way to Janesville, Wisconsin, where he has friends.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—9 P. M.

The bids for the new ten million loan were opened to-day. They amounted in the aggregate to about ten and a half millions within the range of par to 17 45 100 per cent premium. All the bids above par accepted and those at par are to get a pro rata amount of the residue. The majority of the bids are from New York and Washington, but the following are from the interior. Lewis Hasbrook, Poughkeepsie, $10,000 at par; Bank of Lassile, Ill, $30,000, at from 100 31-100 to 100 77 100; Bank of Troy, $20,000, at 100 60 100; Rufus H. King, Albany, $100,000, at 1 1-2 to 1-2 per cent premium.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—3 P. M.

A block of houses on the 6th Avenue were burnt this morning. Loss $20,000—They belonged to the estate of S. P. Townsend.

Mr. Dwight, U. S. Commissioner sent to Havana to take the testimony of Ex Postmaster Fowler, in the case of the U. S. against Law and Convers, surities on Fowlers official bond, returned with the required testimony.

Robbery at Boston.

BOSTON, Oct 22—9 P. M.

The ticket office of the New York Central railroad, on Kneeland street, was broken into early this morning. The safe was opened with false keys, and $2,800 in bank bills stolen.

In Waltham, Sunday night, after a quarrel, Edward Johnson deliberately stabbed Barney Dougherty to the heart, killing him instantly. The murderer was arrested.

Well Done, Pennsylvania!

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 22—9 P. M.

Complete official returns make Curtin's majority 32,082.

BINGHAMTON, Oct. 22—9 P. M.

Mr. Marsh, Receiver, and Mr. Minot, Superintendent, with a majority of the Board of Directors of the Erie Railroad, arrived here this evening on a trip of inspection of the road. Messrs. Evans and Platt, the English Directors, will visit the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad with a view of urging its early completion.

MONETARY.

MONDAY P. M., October 22, 1860.

The week opens with a more easy money market than we have had for some time. There is a good demand for money, but the banks are well supplied, and would be glad to put out a larger amount of currency than there is call for at present. Exchange is in good demand, and from the banks at ¾ prem. A large amount was purchased to-day for interior use.

CHICAGO MONEY MARKET.

The Press & Tribune of this morning says:

The money market continues close. The supply of currency is scarcely equal to the demand, which is active, and Eastern Exchange is quiet, though rates are firm, and Eastern drafts are still selling at ¼ ₰ cent not lower. The banks are still selling at ¼ ₰ cent prem.; but it is only in very limited quantities and on collections, and they are buying at ½@¾ per cent.

NEW YORK MONEY MATTERS.

We have the following by telegraph from New York to-day, in reference to money and stocks:

Money plenty and dull at 5 per cent on call. Exchange quiet at 105¾@108¾. Stocks dull and lower. The receipts of wheat to-day were 82,375 bus—some 28,000 bus less than on Saturday. The shipments were large, amounting to 185,600 bus. The deliveries of flour continue steady. The depressed state of the New York market, together with the firmness in Lake freights, rendered our market for wheat very dull today, and in order to effect sales, holders were obliged to make a concession of 1@2c below the lowest prices of Saturday, and only a limited amount could be sold at the outside figures. The transactions to the close of Change were inside of 80,000 bus at 86@88c for No. 1 spring in store; 84@86c for No. 2; 80c for Club, and 90c for Extra—the market closing dull at the inside figures, sellers disposed to hold off. There was nothing that we could hear of done in flour. Coarse grains quiet and nominally unchanged.

Grain freights were firm and at the opening advanced 1@2c, but subsequently declined to Saturday's rates, vessels offering to come here from Chicago and take wheat for Buffalo at 10c. The prop. Missouri was engaged at 21c, the schr. Bay State at 20c; and the bark S. B. Pomeroy at 19c, to load for Buffalo; also, the schr. Marquette—to arrive from Chicago—at 25c for Oswego. There were doubtless other engagements, as there was a large number of vessels in the river, loaded and loading, that have not been reported as chartered.

SHIPMENTS FROM SHEBOYGAN.

The Evergreen City Times gives the following list of shipments from that port, for the week ending Oct. 13th:

Schooner El Tempo, 8,000 bushels, for J. O. Thayer, to Buffalo.

Schooner Aristea, 5,000 bus for J. O. Thayer, and 400 bbls flour for A. P. Lyman, for Buffalo.

Schooner Geo. Barbour, 6,000 bus for John Bertschey.

Schooner Sacramento, 5,000 bus, is now loading, for J. O Thayer, for Buffalo.

We understand that Mr. Thayer is hourly expecting an 8,000 bushel vessel from Chicago to load wheat for Buffalo; making in all 32,000 bus wheat and 400 bbls flour, exclusive of shipments by propellers from Kirsland's pier. This will do for one week.

CHICAGO MARKET, OCTOBER 20.

The receipts at Chicago yesterday included: 3,614 bbls flour; 141,043 bus wheat; 29,564 bus corn; 7,285 bus oats; 4,373 rye; 3,678 bus barley. In reference to the market the Press & Tribune says:

The wheat market to-day was dull and heavy, owing to discouraging news from New York, as well as an advance in canal freights to Buffalo, and we have to note a further decline of ¾@1c. The sales were 120,000 bus changed hands, at 87c for Northwestern Club; 86@83½c for No. 1 Spring; 80@81c for No. 2 do; and 72@73c for Rejected—closing quiet. The flour market was also quiet and inactive—the transactions being light at $4.00@4.10 for good to choice Spring extras, and $3.90@4.10 for Spring Super. Corn declined 1@2c, and was more active. About 60,000 bus changed hands, at 35@36c for No. 1, and 32@33c for No. 2. Oats were 2c lower, with sales of 32,000 bus at 17@17½c in store. Rye quiet and neglected. Barley unchanged. Highwines are firm at 19½c. Broom Corn was very dull. Timothy seed quiet but firm—Hides steady.

There was no change in freights to Buffalo, but to Oswego the rates were easier. Seven sail vessels and one propeller were engaged at 13c for wheat to Buffalo, 23c to Oswego, and 21½c to Kingston.

CINCINNATI MARKET, OCT. 19TH.

From the Gazette of Saturday morning:

The advices from New York are again unfavorable for breadstuffs. This tends to intensify the stagnation in the trade here. The few sales of flour reported were at $5 for superfine. A decline of 25c would attract buyers to a moderate extent, but sales could not be forced at over $4,75 for superfine. Holders, however, are not yet disposed to yield. Wheat is as dull as flour, but prices are nominally unchanged. A fair demand for corn at 40@42c for old, and 38@39c for new. There was a sale of 500 bbls mess pork on p. t., reported to be $18—probably $17,87½. There was no demand for bacon. The stocks of both pork and bacon are by no means materially diminished by shipments. The exports to-day include 804 hhds and 184 tres bacon, and 516 bbls pork. Groceries quiet and unchanged. A sale of 500 hogs for the first half of November at $6,75. The offerings are in excess of the demand notwithstanding the withdrawal of several sellers. There is a desire on the part of a good many who are feeding, or who bought on contract, to realize, while packers are holding off.

MARINE ITEMS.

WIND BOUND.

The wind was N. N. E. yesterday and to-day, and consequently unfavorable for downward bound vessels. The docks below Walker's Point Bridge, were filled with loaded vessels this afternoon awaiting a change of wind. We noticed the following, all headed lakeward: Propellers Globe and Montgomery; barks De Soto and Cleveland; schooners Lisa Oak, Geo. Davis, Sargent, H. L. Lansing, Rocket, Richard Mott, Col. H. S. Fairchild, E. T. Barney and brig Saxon.

FOR LAKE SUPERIOR.

The steamer Planet, Capt. NICHOLSON, on route from Chicago to Lake Superior, touched here to-day, taking some passengers. She had a heavy load of live stock and provisions including over 1200 bbls of flour. As the wind was blowing freshly from the North East, she remained here through the day in hopes of a favorable change.

PASSED DETROIT.

The following is a list of vessels that passed Detroit on Friday:

Down—Steamers Minnesota, City of Cleveland, North Star; props Wenona, Concord, Ontario; barks Danube, Massilon; schrs Guido, White Squall, White Cloud, Parry Nut, A Handy, Wild Rover, Mercer, S J Hodges, Wellington, Ironsides, Live Yankee, Granada, A Lincoln.

Weather pleasant; wind N E, moderate.

UNKNOWN VESSEL DISMASTED.

Captain McGaw, of the schooner Wyandotte, reports seeing on his last trip down to Buffalo, when a short distance below the islands on Lake Erie, a small vessel, of about 30 tons dismasted, and to all appearance full of water. Owing to heavy weather at the time he was unable to approach near enough to ascertain her name.—Det. Free Press, Sunday.

ACCIDENT TO A PROPELLER.

The prop. Pittsburg, of the People's Line, on her recent trip up from Buffalo, with a cargo of merchandize, bound for Chicago, while endeavoring to enter Port Stanley, C. W., through stress of weather struck the east pier, damaging her forefoot so as to cause her to leak badly. The propeller Jessie was telegraphed for at Buffalo, which came to, and took on part of the cargo at that port, when both boats proceeded on to this city, where the balance was transferred, which the Acme takes on to its destination. The cargo, we understand, has sustained no damage.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

WANTED TO EXCHANGE, A SMALL farm of 20 acres, one mile from city limits, in a pleasant neighborhood, for a house and lot in the First or Seventh Ward. The improvements on said farm are as follows: A small frame house two stories high; also a good new barn; a good well of water; 15½ acres all in cultivation; the balance, 4½ acres, good heavy timber. Also a good sand farm of 80 acres in good order, and is a lovely drive. Any one, who has any taste, can make a beautiful place of this, and be independently situated. The city will make a selection from the above for a garden. A fair exchange will be made. It is free from all incumbrance and such must be the property to be offered in exchange. CALEB WALL.
